

JOB OPPORTUNITY

CLINICAL NEUROLOGIST

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS / NEUROIMMUNOLOGY

The University of California Davis, School of Medicine, Department of Neurology is recruiting a clinical Neurologist with training and expertise in Multiple Sclerosis and Neuroimmunology for a full-time position at the Assistant or Associate level in the Health Sciences Clinical Professor (HSCP) series. The successful candidate will join a multidisciplinary academic adult and pediatric Neurology practice in the beautiful Sacramento region of Northern California.

This faculty position requires a primary interest in clinical practice and the teaching of medical students, residents, and fellows. There is time and opportunity for participation in the department's active MS and NMO clinical trials program.

The successful candidate must possess an MD/DO degree and possess a valid California Medical license or be eligible for licensure in the State of California. Applicants are required to be board certified/eligible in Neurology with post-Neurology fellowship training in Neuroimmunology (Multiple Sclerosis) or have 6+ years of clinical specialization in Multiple Sclerosis. A research or clinical background in immunology or neuroimmunology is desirable.

The UC Davis Department of Neurology and UC Davis Health System teaching hospital are nationally ranked in US News & World Report. The department continues to expand with 24 adult clinical faculty with 14 neurological specialties, 4 child neurologists, inpatient stroke, epilepsy, teleneurology, and neurocritical care. The Neurology outpatient clinic has excellent nursing, staff, and pharmacological support, and recently relocated into a new facility with a clinical electrophysiology lab adjacent to the outpatient Neurology clinic.

To receive full consideration, applications must be received by October 14, 2016. Interested applicants should submit: 1) cover letter with a summary of objectives and goals; 2) curriculum vita; and, 3) names of three references including addresses, telephone numbers and email addresses. All materials must be submitted using the following application link:
